OMMY RYAN, middleweight cham pion when he wants to fight, an-nounces that he will retire from e ring soon. His last appearance will in a "friendly bout" with Hugo the past three years have been 'friend-ly bouts,' although not so advertised, for Tommy has an eye for the gate receipts. The last of his friendly appearances in the East was at Philadelphia with Jack Root. This particular one was puffed and boomed and advertised as the realest kind of a real scrap. Hyan and Root were to annihilate each other. When it came off Tommy and Jack alternately bowed and hugged until Referee McGuigai jumped from the ring in disgust, and the galleries threw soda-water bottles at the fakers. I'm pleased to remark that this final appearance of Faker Tommy will not take place near New York. Tongany will give his friendly exhibition at Benton Harbor, Mich. (wherever that may be), and will then retire to his farm. "Good-by, Tommy. And good luck. We hope you will like farming—like it and stick to it."

Gravesend this afternoon, and if it did not draw out a large crowd it was because of the threatening weather. Showers began failing when the course and hundreds turned back rather than chance a wet afternoon. The showers that he horses were called to the post in the first rice the track any, and when the horses were called to the post in the first rice the track was good. The stake fixture was the Gazelle, for three-year-old fillies, with Tradition named to make her first start. The other races had well-balanced fields and promised good sport:

the ring Jeff can fight it out with both Hart and Root, and after that there'll be less chance than ever for future dispute regarding the disposition of the heavyweight title. The Nevadans are adventising this bout as a "world's champlonship" fight at 365 pounds. How about Champion Bob Fitzsim-mons?

Messis runiam, Hart, Dreyfuss et al. wil probably give John and his Boston legal talent a wide berth next time there is any disagreement in regard to baseball affairs.

Wasn't that a dainty dish to set before a fan?

THIS baking idea isn't entirely new. Mathewson, of the Giants, came mar having a glass arm three years ago. He went to a Hammam bath in this town, where one of these arm and leg baking machines was at work. He went to a Hammam bath in this town, where one of these arm and leg baking machines was at work. Three bakes brought Matty's arm around into championship form again, and within a week he was pitching as well as ever. By next bake-day Elberfield ought to be frisking about like a cold in a new pasture.
